The image shows a close-up, vertical view of a wood grain texture. The wood has a warm, medium-brown tone with a prominent vertical grain pattern. The grain consists of alternating light and dark bands, with some darker, more irregular markings scattered throughout, characteristic of a natural wood surface. The texture is smooth but shows the natural grain structure.

The image shows a close-up, vertical view of a light-colored wood grain. The texture is characterized by fine, vertical lines and subtle variations in tone, ranging from a pale cream to a soft beige. The grain pattern is consistent throughout, with some slight undulations and variations in the spacing of the lines, giving it a natural, organic appearance. In the bottom-left corner, the number '401' is printed in a black, serif font.
